

The Lesbian Archive and Information Centre Timeline

Revealing the hidden history of British lesbian women.

2002: Clubbing for the new millennium

Glasgow has always had a small gay scene. The Mercury Lounge was a venue that tried to offer something a little different but may have suffered, and consequently closed, because of its distance from the nucleus of the gay community which is in and around Merchant City.

Flyer for the Mercury Lounge, 2002

